

WELCOME TO RADSTEIN

The Baumwipfelpfad (treetop path) Steigerwald near Markt Ebrach in the district of Bamberg in Upper Franconia has existed since March 2016.

The trees along the path are within the visitor's reach. High up, mostly in the treetops, the path leads on boardwalks at different heights through the forest. 1,150 meters long and mainly built out of wood, the path winds through the forests of the Ebrach Forest, which are rich in deciduous hardwood.

The heart of the Baumwipfelpfad is the cup-shaped tower, which opens outwards and is by far at the highest point 42 meters in height. The view is impressive by a vastness beyond the Steigerwald that never seems to end.

What is more, the way this sturdy construction is built, with a maximum incline of 6% means that wheelchair users, buggies and rollators can also join in the fun.

FOR EXPLORERS GREAT AND SMALL

We're flying high! Even the way up to the highest platform at 42 meters in height is a real highlight: the path spirals up the outside of the tower until it gets to the top. When you get there, you'll be rewarded with a unique view.

And there's a lot for great and small to discover even on the path itself, with its extra paths and adventure stations that branch off.

DIGITAL EXPERIENCE WITH THE TREETOP APP

Thanks to free WiFi the treetop app accompanies you on your visit and gives you additional impressions.

Dive into a world of virtual reality and steer forestry machines down logging trails through the forest with your mobile phone or mark nests of forest dwellers digitally on your smartphone. The different quiz and game elements are enhanced by lots of information.

JOINT ACTION FOR THE REGION

The Baumwipfelpfad complements the nearby "Steigerwald-Zentrum – Nachhaltigkeit erleben" (Steigerwald Center – Experience Sustainability). You can use the connecting path that leads through forests rich in deciduous hardwood to hike comfortably to the Steigerwald-Zentrum in Handthal. A shuttle bus runs between the two on weekends and bank holidays.
